Doctor, Heal Thyself

There was a large mental institution with many patients. One day a doctor there took his group of patients to the hospital swimming pool. When they had all gathered at the edge of the pool, the doctor said "I want all of you to jump into the swimming pool

The patients began jumping into the pool one after another. There was one, however, that did not jump in. The doctor asked him, "Why don't you jump into the swimming pool as I told you to do?"

The patient replied, "Because I don't know how to swim.

Oh, I forgot to tell you something. There wasn't any water in the swimming pool
